Library Essentials for the Health Sciences

www.metrostate.edu/library

Ask us! Librarians can help you with your research needs in-person, via phone, chat or e-mail.

Not sure where to start? Click on Search by Subject to find library guides for subjects and selected courses. Nursing Guide: http://libguides.metrostate.edu/nursing Journal Articles: Click on Databases A-Z. Select a database suitable for your topic to search for relevant article citations. Click on the Check for Full Text button to find out if we have the full text via a different vendor or database. If not, we can obtain articles for you via interlibrary loan.

Essential health sciences indexes and databases for scholarly articles:
- MEDLINE (via EBSCO) or PubMed (contents are the same)
- CINAHL (via EBSCO)
- Cochrane Library (systematic reviews)
- PsycINFO (psychology)

Now that I have the citation, how do I get a copy of the article?
- Click on Databases A-Z and use the Journal Finder tool to find out if we subscribe to the electronic full text of an article.
- Try OneSearch.
- Under settings, add Metropolitan State University to Library Links in Google Scholar.
- Use interlibrary loan to request books, videos and articles from other libraries at no charge.
- Any Minnesota resident can use ejournals and databases onsite at University of Minnesota Libraries. Bio-Medical Library: http://hsl.lib.umn.edu/biomed/about/location.

Books, Ebooks, Print Journals, Encyclopedias, Streaming Videos, DVDs, and more:
- Click on Search for Books, then use the MnPALS Plus catalog to search for books and other physical items at Metropolitan State and other MnSCU libraries.
- Use OneSearch to look for books, ebooks, DVDs, or streaming videos.

APA Guide: http://libguides.metrostate.edu/APA

---

ASK A LIBRARIAN!
Reference & Research Desk, 1st Floor of Library
library.services@metrostate.edu
Chat on library website
651-793-1614

Available in alternative formats for people with disabilities.
Call Disability Services at 651.793.1549 (voice) or 651.772.7687 (TTY).

Rev 6/8/15 meh